GRADUATION BANQUET

With the customary ceremonies Drayton Valley High School paid tribute to her 1960 graduates at a banquet held in Elks Community Hall the evening of Friday, May 27th. Five students graduated from Drayton Valley, they were Miss Anne Renaldi, Miss May Thomson, Miss Audrey Landers, Mr. Richard Schipper and Mr. Allen Smith. Lodgepole High School, with two graduates also took part in the ceremonies. From the Lodgepole School were Mr. Ronald Schmidt and Mr. Clarence Elliot.

Master of ceremonies for the evening Rupert Ibbotson. Following the traditional singing of "O Canada" grace was said by Fr. Scriven and, after an excellent meal provided by the ladies of the Anglican W.A., the Toast to the Queen was given by Mr. Ibbotson, followed by the Toast to the School Board, given by Richard Schipper who said: "Mr. Chairman, Honored Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen: I propose this toast to Mr. Frank Maddock and the Schoolboard whose time and efforts have given us the pleasant surroundings of a new school. They are the driving force which has made our educational facilities among the best in Canada. I know I speak for every student when I say, 'We appreciate the wonderful work you have done for us.'" The reply to the toast was made by Mr. Maddock who then formally presented to Mr. McMann as principal of the high school, the set of Encyclopedias which have recently been presented to all the high schools of Canada, by the Board of Directors of Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Toast to the Staff was given by Allen Smith with the reply given by Mrs. Jean Moore. The "Scherzer" Pat Armstrong, Janice Williamson, Evelyn Kynoch, Sharon Woods and Sheryl McQuaig then sang, "Just a Closer Walk with Thee". The Class History, text of which is given in another section of this paper, was given by Richard Schipper. Mayor Adrian Meier then extended congratulations to the Graduates and greetings to all on behalf of the Town.

The Toast to the Lodgepole staff was given by Ronald Schmidt, with the reply given by Mr. Claude May, vice-principal of the Lodgepole School.

Toast to the parents was given by May Thomson, with Mrs. Grace Landers giving a very fitting reply to the toast. The Class Prophecy, which was also given in full in another place in this paper, was given by Audrey Landers.

Mr. Lorne Stevenson.

Lorne Stevenson, of Stevenson Hardware, the subject of this week's Personality review, was born in Nehalem, Manitoba, where his father was in the contracting business, road construction and so forth. Lorne attended Nehalem elementary and high schools. He joined the Army in 1942 and served four years, till he received his discharge in 1946. Following his army stint he went to Manitoba's largest city, Winnipeg, where he worked for a year with Winnipeg Paint and Glass, after which he was two years with Ashdown's Hardware in their Winnipeg store.

He then went west to Rebin, Manitoba where he managed a hardware store. In the fall of the year 1951 he came further west, to Edmonton, where he worked for Ashdown's Hardware Company until the spring of 1957, when Dave Chow had completed his building next to the restaurant and Stevenson came to Drayton Valley to manage the hardware store that was established in the new building. Early in 1960 Lorne purchased the business from Mr. Chow and established Stevenson Hardware, a quite successful business operation which is helping to serve the needs of this fast-growing town.

Mr. Stevenson is an enthusiastic curler during the winter season and a golfer during the time when Nature makes that form of recreation available. He is a vice-president of the Drayton Valley Lions Club, a member of the Board of Stewards of the United Church here and member of the newly formed St. Anne's Lodge in Drayton Valley.

He married the former Miss Bert Davidson of Cypress River, Manitoba; they have a young son who started to school this year. The Stevenson's are an integral part of this community.

"AT THE THRESHOLD"

By Rev. J.C. Wulff, of the Drayton Valley Church of God.

"Knowledge is proud that he has learned so much; Wisdom is humble that he knows no more."

During the spring of the year we may say telling of the year who are graduating from the Lord's High Schools, Universities and Church related schools. It may seem odd that the day of mourning and gown, signify the end of a long, hard period of constant study, training and examination should be called "Commencement".

The event is, of course, aptly named; for while it does indeed mark the end of a period of formal study, the crowning of certain test books, it also signals the unleashing of thousands of knowledge crammings young minds into the problem-filled world.

The graduate who is wise as well as learned knows that by far his largest portion of learning lies before him. Now comes the challenging task, in which only experience and prayer will make him skillful, of putting into practice the facts stored in his mind and at his fingertips. Particularly challenging is his use of that knowledge so as to grow daily, like Christ, "in wisdom and understanding, and in favor with God and man".

This week the children of six years old who will be starting school next fall were asked to matriculate. They with their parents assistance were asked to register for the beginning of their education. Many people assume they are registered for eternal life with God, by some method of memorization of certain facts, or signing their names to certain documents. The only way one can matriculate in the way of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, is by letting him with his spirit enter into our inner being, so that, it changes all our basic and human instincts from self preservation to that which Christ demonstrated, which is for the best of others now and in the future.

Considered in this light, Matriculation Day and Commencement Day serves as a reminder to all of us that we are enrolled in the school of life—a school in which there are no departments, but where our daily routines call for a constant blending of all the things which will be the final meeting until fall. The meeting ended with a devotional period conducted by Mrs. Freda Wright. Lunch was served by Mrs. Marie Turner and Jean Campbell.

We know and are. How much of the good qualities we have and wisely we determine our degree of success or failure today is all tomorrow.

This blend will never be right without the one "course" that is always open to us—the way of Jesus Christ. Alone, at any time, can turn our failures into successes, our defeats into victories. He alone holds for release as will the Great Dispenser which each of us is moving toward; the one signifying Commencement into eternal life. It is a degree which we all, guided by the never-failing Tutor, can and should arrive at "with honors".

UNITED CHURCH H.W.A. The General W.A. held their regular monthly meeting on May 26 at 8:00 p.m. at the church. There were 11 members present. The President Mrs. F. Hill opened the meeting with the chorale. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Nancy Adams. Mrs. Shirley Machan read the treasurer's report. Committees were appointed to be in charge of the refreshments and ice cream on June 12, when the congregation will meet at Pigeon Lake for outdoor worship service and a picnic. A cupboard has been built in the nursery, also curtains made and some new toys purchased. It was decided that the three groups would hold a joint meeting on June 14th in the church basement.

BUCK LAKE NEWS

Buck Lake, a fisherman's paradise approximately 85 miles west of Watrous, is reported to be one of the best spots in the area for Walleyes and perch. The lake vacating the lake early this year has left the fish very hungry and almost any lure is sure to attract a nibble. Fresh minnows are real good bait. Walleyes and perch are now on the run biting at anything that looks like food. Boats and cabins are available at this scenic spot and the vacationers may take advantage of these facilities to spend the week and fishing without interruption. A beautiful park is also available and camp sites and a fresh drilled artesian well are part of the set-up for those who wish to stay only for the day.

A great deal of work and planning has gone into making Buck Lake a place of real beauty for the benefit of vacationers, and the ardent fisherman would be very wise to take advantage of the big buck that is available in the lake.

of these services must be paid for. The increase in bureaucracy and red tape expense is stupendous in such a scheme as England. With regard to drugs, this is and has been of vital concern to me, both as a doctor and a Member of Parliament. I believe that we should have a Royal Commission to investigate this problem. I hope that this will come about, but I believe that with private enterprise the have had many new developments in drugs which would otherwise have occurred under a state program. GRADUATION BANQUET (cont.)
Mrs. Lil Ross then sang, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You". After which Mr. McMannus introduced the Guest Speaker, Dr. Jones, of the faculty of University of Alberta.
The subject of Dr. Jones address was "Making the best use of any learning obtained". Illustrating his point the speaker mentioned the words of Sir Walter Scott, speaking of his grandfather: "Wise without learning; plain and good". Dr. Jones stated that the education we go after ourselves is that which will mean the most to us and will do us the most good; he said that many merely have education "poured into them", with very poor results. He spoke of the value of the knowledge which we have inherited from the past, illustrating the statement by the fact of the whole system of government which this country has inherited from the British Isles.
The speaker mentioned the fact that the world is governed by law, and a part of the school program is the study of those laws which govern the world and the universe. He said that before one could become master of the forces of nature he must first become his servant and learn to obey the laws of nature.
Following the closing with "God Save the Queen" the graduates and their friends gathered at the gymnasium of the Frank Maddock High School to enjoy an evening of social dancing.

CLASS HISTORY
By: Richard Schipper.

History, as a famous author once said: is a collection of people's mistakes. By studying past events we learn not to make the same errors. During our school days each one of us has experienced happy and some rather unhappy events. From these experiences we have learned a great deal and in the future they shall remain dear to us.

In grade nine Allen Smith wanted to initiate the new junior high school building. His first impulse was to eliminate the smell of fresh paint by placing garlic in the teacher's blotter box. As to be expected it left a lasting imprint on the teacher's memory.

Audrey Landers, our ardent nature lover, felt that the world profit more from her biology class outside rather than inside. It was an excellent idea but she forgot one minor detail—to get permission from her teacher. The result was rather unpleasant and she never attempted it again.

In grade ten Anne Renaldi decided the world was April fool's day off with a traditional prank. Having reached this conclusion she contrived some mischief. Since the waste basket was full she opened the teachers' bin.

case and exchanged contents. Because of the lateness of a teacher at an arriving one day May Thompson, with a group of friends decided to take a holiday. She was quite sure she enjoyed herself until the next day when she was told to write one thousand lines to the

THE Editor's Corner

Death, as it must to all, came to Mrs. Ellen (Fuggie) Playford, the mother of this writer, early Saturday morning, May 28th. Funeral services were conducted in Toronto, with committal in the cemetery in Welland, eighty miles away, where she was buried beside the body of her husband who had preceded her in death. The trip to the cemetery was made through southern Ontario countryside made doubly beautiful by the sweet breath of spring. Mother loved the beauties of Nature.

Born in the County of Kent, England, which has been described as the "Garden of England" she came to Canada with her husband many years ago and their seven children, two boys and five girls were raised in Canada. She was a good wife and a wonderful mother. In the early days on the farm in Manitoba without all the modern conveniences that we think of today she raised her children, and to her credit it may be said that all have turned out quite well, even though this writer, perhaps, has not fulfilled all her hopes and expectations. Her husband, a widower, some years older than she, had six young children when she married him. These all have said that their own natural mother could have treated them no better than did their second mother. A wonderful testimony. A gardener born, she could coax gardens to bear, even in the driest of years. An animal lover, the farm animals would follow her all over the place. She had deep religious beliefs and principles, an inheritance from godly ancestors. An article in a Kentish paper following the death of her father a number of years ago told of his regular attendance at church and Sunday School, where he was Sunday School superintendent for many years. He had attended the same church for over seventy years, walking both ways to two services each Sunday and never missed a Sunday in his church. The editor of the paper had computed the distance he had walked to church in that time. We have forgotten the exact figure right now. It might not have been once around the world, but it was a figure just about as impressive and startling.

Nothing could have been more comforting to us youngsters than to have Mother come in, after we were in bed, tuck us in, give us a kiss and say, "God bless you." We felt that surely nothing could warm us after that. When those sudden Manitoba thunderstorms came up it was comforting to wake up, and to be aware, drowsily, that Mother was closing all the windows. She closed the windows of the house, after that, during our young childhood on many of those things that would come up to disturb our childish peace. To hurry into the house after school, to show "MOTHER" and to hear her answering hail is rich heritage for any child; it was ours. To come over the hill after a hard day of threshing at the neighbors and to know that supper would be warm and waiting is a pleasant memory of our youth. What we might say here is perhaps not too different than sons and daughters, now grown to adult estate, all over the land, might also say.

Perhaps there is not too much we can now say to express that which is in our hearts, except this: Mother, you have gone; you have earned your rest. Rest in peace, until the great Resurrection Morn.

CLASS HISTORY. (continued) effect that the school learns to appreciate the educational facilities offered to her by the province of Alberta. Richard Schipper thought he might like the sound of apples smashing against the blackboards. He tried it and the result was a splintered blackboard. Thereupon the teacher presented him with a brush and pail and politely informed him that apples were to be used as food and not to be used as ammunition. Ronald Schmilt certainly thought it was a big job to see his friend's books go up in flames while burning magnesium ribbon in a chemistry class.

Mr. Maddock, Chairman of Stony Plain School Division Board, presenting Mr. McManus with the Encyclopaedia at the graduation Banquet, Friday, May 27th.

He laughed out of the other side his mouth when he discovered his friend was using his book. In Grade six Clarence Elliot found that big dinosaurs were hindrance to his school studies. Especially one day when he bicycled and the teacher asked him to leave the class for disturbing the peace. (To be continued next week)

I.D. ADVISORY COMMISSION LUNCHEON

Approximately 40 persons were served luncheon by the Canoeing service on Thursday, June 3, in the Community Hall, following the regular monthly meeting of the Planning Advisory Commission for I.D.'s 77, 78 and 89. The noon meal was provided through the courtesy of the Department of Municipal Affairs and may become an annual affair. The Planning Advisory Commission was set up two or three years ago to deal with development matters within the area contained in the designated Improvement Districts 77 and 78, and when the dam was started on the Brazeau River last summer, that area within I.D. 89 was placed under the direct supervision of the Planning Advisory Commission also. Representatives were appointed from a number of governmental departments and companies operating in the Pembina field, as well as the Edmonton Health Unit, the Stony Plain School Division and the Towns of Lodgepole and Drayton Valley. Government departments that are represented on the Commission, which meets in the Pembina field, usually in Drayton Valley, once a month are, the Department of Health, the Department of Municipal Affairs, the Department of Lands and Forests, the Department of Education, the Oil and Gas Conservation Board.

Representatives have been chosen from Pan American Petroleum Corporation, Mobil Oil of Canada, Texaco Exploration Company, Calgary Power Company Ltd., Pembina Pipe Line Company Ltd., the Edmonton Health Unit, the Stony Plain School Division, the Town of Drayton Valley and the Town of Lodgepole.

The Planning Commission deals with many phases of the present and future development of this area, embracing thousands of acres, including all the Pembina field west of the Saskatchewan and down to the Brazeau River. Development inside the Town of Drayton Valley is handled by the town itself through its Council. Lodgepole, still operating under the New Town Act, is administered by the Department of Municipal Affairs, with a member Board of Administrators, with a member from the Department of Health, a member from Town Planning, a member from the Department of Education and a member of Municipal Affairs.

District Personalities

Mr. Conrad D. Fuhr.

A native Albertan, Conrad D. "Red" Fuhr, was born in Spruce Grove on a farm. At the turn of the century his grandfather and his father had come to the Stony Plain area from Austria, and had fled on horseback. Both had owned all the land on which Stony Plain is now situated. In the early days C.D.'s father had been an immigration officer translator and interpreter for the C.P.R. He spoke seven languages. When he reached school age Red started to a country school south of Spruce Grove where his father had bought a farm. In 1914 he moved to Edmonton and attended public school. From 1921 to 1924 he attended Concordia College where he studied for the Lutheran ministry. During the next three years he attended Victoria Composite High School and in 1928 he took a business course at Alberta College. After graduation he opened the post-office in Spruce Grove and kept books for a mercantile company there. In 1931 he worked for Canadian Utilities and Peace River Land Company in Vegreville and in 1932 he was a Department of Highways foreman and later superintendent of a gravel pit in Wetaskiwin district. He rode out the Depression until 1938 when he bought a farm south of Stony Plain and took his young bride there. At about the same time he entered into municipal and provincial politics where his organizing and speaking abilities soon won him a place of prominence. In 1938 he became chairman of the local school board, a position which he held for 15 years until he came to Drayton Valley.

In 1942 he organized farmers into the Farmers Organization and in 1946 became a director on the Farmers Union Provincial Board, a position which he held for six years. In 1948 he was appointed a member of a delegation which met with a Federal Cabinet committee in Ottawa; this delegation represented both Alberta and Saskatchewan farmers.

During the year 1948 Mr. Fuhr organized the Credit Union in Stony Plain, which is still in operation. Two years later he became the founder and first president of the Stony Plain Lecher Plant. In 1940 he helped organize the Edmonton District Lecher Association, of which he was named a director until he came to Drayton Valley in 1954.

On numerous occasions Mr. Fuhr was appointed to delegations to meet with the Alberta Provincial Council (cont. page 11, col. 1)
